Juan Armijo, of Las Palomas, was arrested a few days ago and taken to Hillsboro, charged with making a deadly assault with a knife upon Leandro Armijo. He gave $2,000 bond for his appearance at the next term of court.

Little Girl Poisoned

Last Monday afternoon a little girl belonging to Catarino Valencia, of Springer, was found lying on the ground near the family home very sick. Doctors Hopkins and Cahill were at once summoned, and after an examination and questioning of the child it was discovered that she had been poisoned by eating weeds. Through the efforts of the physicians she was brought out all right, but the little one had a very narrow escape from death.

Tubercular Sanatorium Sold

E. Woodhull, owner and founder of Sunnyside Sanatorium for tubercular patients, located a mile north of Silver City, sold the same last week to Thornton Moore, of Lexington, Ky. The consideration was private. The new owner went to Silver City in April from Kentucky for the benefit of his wife's health and liked the place so much that he decided to locate there. The Sunnyside Sanatorium consists of eighteen cottages besides the main building, the corral and seventy-one acres of ground, and is considered valuable property. Dr. L. B. Peters will be retained in his capacity of medical director.

Former Springer Man Dead

Word reached the city yesterday that Joseph A. Kremis was dead at his home in Belen. No particulars were obtained other than that he had been sick for several days. W. H. Kremis, a brother, left Springer Saturday for Belen. Joseph Kremis lived in Springer a number of years, being engaged in the drug business there. He was well known and popular. About seven years ago, with his family he went to Oregon, then returned to New Mexico, settling Albuquerque, and from there a year ago went to Belen where he had been in the drug business. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn his death.

Receives an Appointment

Charles McAninch, the 16-year-old son of the late Samuel McAninch of Silver City, has received an appointment or scholarship to the Agricultural College at Las Cruces from Hon. F. J. Davidson, who represented the Grant county district in the lower house of the last territorial legislative assembly. Under a territorial statute passed two years ago, each member of the legislature is allowed to make one appointment of a student from his respective district to any territorial educational institution, all the costs of schooling to be provided for by the territory for a period of four years, and it was under this statute that Mr. Davidson made the appointment.

HUNTER SHOTS COMPANION; MISTOOK HIM FOR BEAR

Hillsboro, N. M., Aug. 23.—Date Whitham, of Kingston, met with an accident last Monday that may cripple him for life. Whitham and James Brown were up on the North Percha and went out early in the morning in quest of a prowling bear. The friends separated and each went his way.

Later on Brown who, having his eye peeled for 'bar', saw some curious object in the brush some one hundred yards distant, and believing he was alone in that vicinity and that the object to be some wild varmint, he took a shot at the object in the brush, and, immediately, to his horror, he discovered that he had shot his friend who immediately showed himself.

Brown went immediately to his friend's assistance and found that he had shot him through the left hand; the 45-70 bullet having entered the back of the left hand coming out on the under side of the wrist.

The wounded man was immediately brought to Hillsboro by Ed. Armer and the injured member was dressed by Dr. Given who found the hand and wrist badly lacerated and shattered. Whitham left Tuesday morning for Denver for further treatment.

AGED WOMAN ACCUSED OF WITCHCRAFT; JAILED

Silver City, N. M., Aug. 23.—A short time ago a young unmarried woman living at Hanover, became sick and her mother called in an old woman to prescribe for her. The old woman took a 5-lb lard can, filled it half full of warm water, put in two tablespoons of sweet oil and some green parsley. The sick woman swallowed this dose and soon became sicker than ever.

According to statements made by persons present, she vomited, and bunches of hair were seen in the spew. The old woman was immediately accused of sorcery. She fled from the house and hid out for a few days. Meantime the sick woman became worse. Deputy Sheriff Blair was sent for, Dr. Huff was called in and Albert Wake, a retired justice, was consulted. It was determined to prosecute the old woman.

Accordingly a warrant was obtained for her arrest. She was brought before the justice of the peace at Santa Rita, tried and convicted of unlawfully administering medicine and sent to jail for thirty days.

The sick woman commenced to improve as soon as the old woman was convicted, and now she is entirely well.

"Well," says the neighbor to the east, "I see that the Perkinses are home from their summer trip. Now we'll get the usual lot of fish stories."
"Do they all go fishing?" asks the neighbor of the west.
"He does. He will tell all about the ones that he almost caught, his wife will tell about the prizes she almost won, and the girls will tell about the young millionaires that almost proposed to them."—Chicago Evening Post.

A western newspaper man visited Washington recently and told the following story on former Representative Amos J. Cummings of New York, who was once city editor of the Sun. One Saturday night it was announced that all the saloons were to be closed next day.

Mr. Cummings called his star reporter, Murray.
"Tom," he said "go out tomorrow and find out if the saloons are selling liquor."

It was Thursday when Tom again appeared at the city desk.
"They were," he reported.—Success Magazine.

"How beautiful and clean the horizon looks," said Polly as on the second day out she came up on deck and threw herself down in the steamer chair beside me.

"Well, it ought to be," said I looking up from my book. "The captain has been sweeping it with his glass for the past six hours."

"That reminds me," said Polly, turning two very grave brown eyes upon me. "Did you remember to bring that vacuum cleaner along with you, as I suggested?"

"No," said I, unwarily. "I remem-

AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Willimantic, Conn.—"For five years I suffered untold agony from female troubles, causing backache, irregularities, dizziness and nervous prostration. It was impossible for me to walk upstairs without stopping on the way. I tried three different doctors and each told me something different. I received no benefit from any of them, but seemed to suffer more. The last doctor said nothing would restore my health. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see what it would do, and I am restored to my natural health."—Mrs. ETTA DONOVAN, Box 299, Willimantic, Conn.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

bered to forget it, however. What on earth does anybody want with a vacuum cleaner at sea?"

"I was only for you, dear," said Polly. "I thought you would like to have your brains massaged with it occasionally."—Philadelphia Ledger.

"What do you think?" related the pretty waitress at the summer hotel. "That handsome young man came up when I wasn't looking last night and stole a kiss."

"I am surprised!" exclaimed her chum. "Don't you know the head waitress said that any girl allowing a young man to kiss her would be suspended?"

"I—I was suspended!"
"Suspended?"
"Yes, I was in a hammock at the time."—Exchange.

He was a dashing city chap
And hungered for an outing;
And though the season it was late,
Decided to go troutling.
He fished all day without success,
At eventide quite mute he,
Called at a farmhouse for a meal,
But had no speckled beauty.
He met thereat a country maid,
A winsome freckled creature,
With roguish eyes and auburn hair,
Of charming form and feature.
He went again, and yet again,
"Twixt love and fish and duty;
But ere the fishing season closed
He'd caught a speckled beauty.

Daysey Mayme Appleton was reading a newspaper last night when suddenly she gave a scream and fell to the floor in a dead faint. Now, according to the books and traditions, Daysey Mayme fainted because she read the announcement of an old sweetheart's marriage or death (and it would turn out afterward, according to the books and traditions, that he was a cousin of her old sweetheart by the same name). But real life is so unlike the books and traditions. Upon being revived Daysey Mayme related that she saw hosiery advertised for 27 cents that she had paid 35 cents the day before.—Atchison Globe.
